ENZO SMITH
COMMUNITY EXECUTIVE

Profile

As a community organizer and manager with 10+ years of experience, I have cultivated strong relationships within communities around the world. With expertise in community building and engagement, I craft engaging content and resources to help community members overcome challenges. Through community management, business development, and strategic partnerships, I leverage my technical skills and passion for education to enable community growth. I am now seeking a role where I can continue championing communities and shaping the future of technology.
